CALIFORNIA DEMS EXCITED ABOUT BIDEN AND HARRIS,
QUINNIPIAC UNIVERSITY POLL FINDS;
43% OF VOTERS SAY THEY CAN'T AFFORD TO LIVE HERE

Former Vice President Joe Biden and U.S. Sen. Kamala Harris, the native daughter, generate almost equal measures of excitement among California Democratic voters as they consider 2020 presidential candidates, according to a Quinnipiac University Poll released today: 60 percent of Democrats and Democratic leaners would be excited if Vice President Biden became the nominee and 58 percent would be excited if Sen. Harris became the nominee.

Looking at the excitement level among Democrats for other possible nominees, the independent Quinnipiac (KWIN-uh-pe-ack) University Poll finds:

- 44 percent would be excited for U.S. Sen. Elizabeth Warren of Massachusetts;
- 44 percent would be excited for U.S. Sen. Bernie Sanders of Vermont;
- 40 percent would be excited for former U.S. Rep. Beto O'Rourke of Texas;
- 21 percent would be excited for U.S. Sen. Kirsten Gillibrand of New York.

California voters overall are divided on whether Harris would make a good president, as 40 percent say yes and 38 percent say no. There are party, gender, regional and age gaps:

- Democrats say yes 68 – 12 percent. Saying no are Republicans 75 – 11 percent and independent voters 42 – 31 percent;
- Women say yes 48 – 31 percent, as men say no 45 – 32 percent;
- Voters in the Bay Area say 59 – 29 percent she would make a good president, while Southern California voters say 44 – 32 percent she would not;
- Voters 18 to 34 years old say yes 44 – 28 percent, as voters over 65 years old are divided as 37 percent say yes and 42 percent say no.

“It’s former Vice President Joe Biden and U.S. Sen. Kamala Harris neck and neck and everyone else an afterthought in the very early Democratic presidential race,” said Tim Malloy, assistant director of the Quinnipiac University Poll.

“But while Sen. Harris gets the nod for generating excitement among California Democrats, the total pool of voters is noticeably ambivalent about whether she has what it takes to be a good president.”

California voters approve 53 – 32 percent of the job Harris is doing as a U.S. Senator.

Quinnipiac University Poll/February 6, 2019 – page 2

Voters approve 55 – 37 percent of the job Nancy Pelosi is doing as House Speaker.

U.S. Sen. Diane Feinstein gets a 51 – 38 percent job approval rating.

Newly elected Gov. Gavin Newsom gets a 39 – 28 percent approval, with 33 percent undecided.

California voters disapprove 67 – 28 percent of the job President Donald Trump is doing. Republicans approve 71 – 22 percent, the only listed party, gender, racial, regional or age group to approve.

The Wall

Golden State voters oppose 64 – 32 percent building a wall along the border with Mexico. Republicans support a wall 80 – 15 percent, the only listed party, gender, racial, regional or age group in support.

Voters are divided 46 – 46 percent on whether security along the Mexican border is effective.

Immigration is good for the country, 76 percent of California voters say. No listed group disagrees. Voters support 69 – 22 percent a path to citizenship for undocumented immigrants. Republicans oppose such a path 52 – 39 percent, the only listed group opposed.

California voters support 82 – 14 percent allowing so-called “Dreamers” to stay in the U.S. and eventually apply for citizenship. Every listed group supports this.

But voters oppose 52 – 40 percent extending Medicaid to pay for health care for undocumented immigrants. These immigrants get too much protection in California, 36 percent of voters say, as 26 percent say they don’t get enough protection and 28 percent say they get the right amount.

“Californians display a deep reservoir of empathy for dreamers and a strong belief that immigrants are good for the country,” Malloy said.

“But there’s a caveat: About a third of voters believe that the state overreaches in helping undocumented immigrants.

“Californians back up what American voters have been saying emphatically for two years about the border wall. Forget it. We don’t want it.”

Affording the Golden State

Led by younger voters, 43 percent of California voters feel they can't afford to live in the Golden State. Among voters 18 to 34 years old, 61 percent say they can't afford to live in California.

Voters statewide say 77 – 18 percent that there is a housing crisis in California. That ranges from 72 – 20 percent among voters living inland and in the Valley to 87 – 11 percent among voters living in coastal areas.

A total of 58 percent of California voters rate the state's economy as "excellent" or "good," while 38 percent say "not so good" or "poor."

A total of 49 percent of voters are "very satisfied" or "somewhat satisfied" with the way things are going in California, while 50 percent are "somewhat dissatisfied" or "very dissatisfied."

"For many Californians, life is less than golden in the Golden State," Malloy said.

Climate Change, Forest Fires, Single-Payer Health Insurance

A total of 78 percent of California voters are "very concerned" or "somewhat concerned" about climate change, 21 percent are "not so concerned" or "not concerned at all."

Climate change is more responsible for the severity of wildfires in the state, 43 percent of voters say, as 43 percent say forest mismanagement is more responsible. There is a partisan divide as 69 percent of Democrats say climate change is more responsible, while 76 percent of Republicans say forest mismanagement is more responsible.

California must do more to address climate change, 57 percent of voters say, while 19 percent say the state is doing enough and 18 percent say the state is doing too much.

"Californians say 62 – 34 percent that the changing climate is adding fuel to the wildfires. But voters are divided on which is more to blame for the severity of the fires, climate change or bad stewardship of the land," Malloy said.

Only 41 percent of California voters support replacing private health insurance with a single-payer system run by the state, with 46 percent opposed. Democrats support the idea 61 – 24 percent. Opposed are Republicans, 75 – 14 percent, and independent voters, 51 – 38 percent.

Quinnipiac University Poll/February 6, 2019 – page 4

Gun Laws

California voters support 80 – 15 percent increasing the budget for a program that confiscates guns from people who are no longer eligible to own them, such as convicted felons or people diagnosed with a serious mental illness. Voters also support 55 – 38 percent limiting the purchase of shotguns and rifles to one per month.

Marijuana

Legalizing marijuana has been good for California, voters say 54 – 31 percent. Men say 59 – 26 percent that legalizing marijuana has been good for the state, compared to 49 – 35 percent among women.

There is almost no gender gap, however, as voters support 64 – 28 percent erasing criminal records for marijuana possession.

From January 30 – February 4, Quinnipiac University surveyed 912 California voters with a margin of error of +/- 4.1 percentage points, including the design effect. The survey includes 452 Democrats and Democratic leaners with a margin of error of +/- 5.9 percentage points, including the design effect.

The Quinnipiac University Poll, directed by Douglas Schwartz, Ph.D., conducts gold standard surveys using random digit dialing with live interviewers calling landlines and cell phones. The Quinnipiac University Poll conducts nationwide surveys and polls in more than a dozen states on national and statewide elections, as well as public policy issues.
