NEW JERSEY BRIDGEGATE PROBES: WHITEWASH V. WITCH HUNT, QUINNIPIAC UNIVERSITY POLL FINDS;
GOV. CHRISTIE'S APPROVAL IS DOWN, BULLY-METER IS UP

The investigation clearing New Jersey Gov. Christopher Christie of involvement in Bridgegate was a "whitewash," Garden State voters say, as the governor's job approval drops to 49 – 44 percent, according to a Quinnipiac University Poll released today.

New Jersey voters are divided 48 – 48 percent on whether Gov. Christie is more of a leader or more of a bully, his worst "bully" score ever. The governor's job approval is down from a 55 – 38 percent score in a January 15 survey by the independent Quinnipiac (KWIN-uh-pe-ack) University, in which 54 percent of voters said he was more of a leader while 40 percent said he was more of a bully.

Today, men approve 53 – 43 percent of the job Christie is doing, with women divided 46 – 45 percent.

Of the 96 percent of New Jersey voters who know something about Bridgegate, September's traffic jam on the George Washington Bridge, 56 percent say the investigation commissioned by the governor and clearing Christie of involvement was a "whitewash," while 36 percent say it was a "legitimate investigation."

Voters are split 46 – 46 percent on whether Democratic state legislators are conducting a legitimate investigation into Bridgegate or a "political witch hunt."

"A 'whitewash,' voters say of the investigation of himself that New Jersey Gov. Christopher Christie commissioned. There's a clear political split: two thirds of Republicans agree with the report while Democrats overwhelmingly give it bad marks," said Maurice Carroll, assistant director of the Quinnipiac University Poll.

"New Jersey voters also are a bit skeptical of the investigation by legislative Democrats, splitting evenly over whether it's 'legitimate' or 'a political witch hunt.'" Carroll added.

Quinnipiac University Poll/April 9, 2014 – page 2

Among those who know about Bridgegate, 64 percent say Christie did not personally order the traffic jam, but 51 percent say he was aware of what his aides were doing. “Practically everybody has heard about Bridgegate and half of voters think Christie knew about it and a quarter that he ordered it,” Carroll said.

The Hoboken/Sandy scandal is less well known, as 65 percent say they have read or heard something about it. But 57 percent of those believe the Hoboken Mayor Dawn Zimmer’s claim that members of the Christie administration told her the town would not get Sandy relief unless she approved an unrelated development project.

And 68 percent of those who believe the mayor believe Christie personally ordered this pressure, while 80 percent believe he knew what members of his administration were up to.

Christie would not make a good president, New Jersey voters say 57 – 35 percent, including 49 – 41 percent among independent voters. Voters say 52 – 43 percent that they would not like to see him run for president in 2016.

“Two-thirds of voters heard about the Hoboken scandal and more than half believe the mayor’s version,” Carroll said.

“But the governor's job approval stays ever so slightly on the plus side. Voters don’t think he’d be a good president and they don’t want him to run. They’re uncertain about his honesty and a lot still think he's a bully – but they give him high marks on leadership.”

U.S. Senate Race

New Jersey voters give U.S. Senator Cory Booker a 47 – 25 percent approval rating and say 47 – 28 percent that he deserves reelection.

Booker tops an unnamed Republican challenger 50 – 31 percent.

President Barack Obama gets a split 49 – 48 percent approval rating in the Garden State.

U.S. Sen. Robert Menendez gets a 43 – 39 percent score.

From April 2 – 7, Quinnipiac University surveyed 1,356 New Jersey voters, with a margin of error of +/- 2.7 percentage points. Live interviewers call land lines and cell phones.

The Quinnipiac University Poll, directed by Douglas Schwartz, Ph.D., conducts public opinion surveys in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Florida, Ohio, Virginia, Iowa, Colorado and the nation as a public service and for research.
