U.S. VOTERS SAY SESSIONS LIED AND SHOULD RESIGN, QUINNIPIAC UNIVERSITY NATIONAL POLL FINDS;
SUPPORT FOR IMMIGRANT ‘PATH TO CITIZENSHIP’ AT NEW HIGH

American voters say 52 – 40 percent that U.S. Attorney General Jeff Sessions lied under oath during his confirmation hearings and say 51 – 42 percent that he should resign, according to a Quinnipiac University national poll released today.

Voters disapprove 54 – 32 percent of the way President Donald Trump is handling U.S. policy towards Russia, the independent Quinnipiac (KWIN-uh-pe-ack) University poll finds.

American voters support 66 – 30 percent an “independent commission investigating potential links between some of Donald Trump’s campaign advisors and the Russian government.” The only listed party, gender, age or racial group opposed is Republicans, opposed 64 – 30 percent.

A total of 61 percent are “very concerned” or “somewhat concerned” about President Trump’s relationship with Russia. A total of 62 percent of voters say alleged Russian interference in the 2016 election is a “very important” or “somewhat important” issue.

Healthcare should be President Trump’s top priority, 36 percent of voters say, while 30 percent list infrastructure; 16 percent list taxes and 15 percent list immigration.

American voters say 51 – 45 percent that Trump should not support efforts to repeal the Affordable Care Act (ACA). Trump and Republicans in Congress should repeal parts of the ACA, 49 percent of voters say, while 27 percent say there should be no repeal and 21 percent say repeal all of the ACA.

“The gavel comes down hard on Attorney General Jeff Sessions,” said Tim Malloy, assistant director of the Quinnipiac University Poll.

“He lied and he should quit because of it, say Americans, who are clearly very concerned about the Russian affair and all the administration personnel involved with it.”

It is “very important” that health insurance be affordable for all Americans, 84 percent of voters say, while 12 percent say it is “somewhat important.”

A total of 44 percent of voters are “very confident” or “somewhat confident” that Republicans in Congress will replace Obamacare with something as good or better, while 54 percent are “not so confident” or “not confident at all.”

Immigration

Illegal immigrants should be allowed to remain in the U.S. and eventually become citizens, 63 percent of American voters say, the highest level of support for this option since Quinnipiac University began asking the question in 2012.

Another 11 percent say illegal immigrants should be allowed to stay, but not become citizens, and 23 percent say they should not be allowed to stay.

Only illegal immigrants who have committed a serious crime should be deported, 55 percent of voters say, while 21 percent say deport illegal immigrants who have committed any crime. All illegal immigrants should be deported, 19 percent say, while 3 percent say no immigrants should be deported.

There are wide gender, racial and party divisions as American voters oppose 51 – 42 percent suspending immigration from “terror prone” regions. Men are divided 48 – 47 percent, as women oppose the suspension 55 – 36 percent. White voters are divided 47 – 47 percent, with non-white voters opposed 61 – 29 percent. Republicans back the suspension 80 – 14 percent, with Democrats opposed 79 – 13 percent and independent voters opposed 53 – 41 percent.

American voters support 90 – 8 percent increased federal spending for infrastructure, but oppose 51 – 45 percent a $54 billion increase in defense spending.

Transgender Students

Public schools should allow transgender students to use bathrooms and locker rooms consistent with their gender identity, 48 percent of voters say, with 45 percent opposed. There is a wide gender gap, as women support the idea 55 – 37 percent, with men opposed 54 – 39 percent.

From March 2 – 6, Quinnipiac University surveyed 1,283 voters nationwide with a margin of error of +/- 2.7 percentage points. Live interviewers call landlines and cell phones.
